

Dear Fi-domain team,

We're contacting you regarding the recently announced fee adjustments for .fi domains.

An increase from €9 to €12 per year represents a significant 33% rise, which could be challenging for small businesses and individual users already managing higher operational costs.

We're also concerned about the introduction of the €400 registrar fee, as this additional expense will likely need to be reflected in end-user pricing, further impacting affordability.

Implementing both measures simultaneously could discourage registrations and weaken the competitiveness of the .fi domain space, which would not be ideal for registrars or Finland's digital landscape as a whole.

We believe it would be more reasonable to apply only one of these changes at this time.

Kind regards,

Securebackorder Team
