

minedu.fi/DL2021

Webinar: Future priorities in data management and scientific computing, competence development, and collaboration

Time: Monday 23 November 2020 at 12.00–15.00

Platforms: Teams and Howspace

The Development programme for data management and scientific computing (DL2021) organises the webinar jointly with the Expert forum for scientific computing.

Programme

11.45 Webinar room opens at Teams, welcome!

12.00 Opening interview and the introduction to the interactive working methods

Erja Heikkinen, Director, Science Policy, Ministry of Education, Science and Culture

Mari Hjelt, Managing director, Gaia Consulting, Moderator of the webinar

12.15 Challenges of data management and scientific computing in the ERC-synergy project LIFEPLAN

Otso Ovaskainen, Professor, University of Helsinki

12.30 Can AI recognize prostate cancer?

Pekka Ruusuvuori, Assistant professor, University of Turku

12.45 Howspace brainstorming activity (individual work)

Big trends and weak signals: How do you see the future of data management and scientific computing?

13.15 Renewal of the Architecture for Scientific Computing in Finland

Keijo Heljanko, Chair of the Expert forum for scientific computing; Professor, University of Helsinki

13.35 Virtual coffee break

13.55 Parallel sessions (two groups per theme)

A1. National competence network for scientific computing

A2. National competence network for scientific computing

B1. New opportunities for collaboration between academic research and companies

B2. New opportunities for collaboration between academic research and companies

14.30 Highlights from the parallel sessions (session chairs)

A1 Anu Juslin, Director, Research services, Tampere University

A2 Ella Bingham, Head of Research Services, Aalto University

B1 Per Öster, Director, Business Insights and Growth, CSC - IT Center for Science Ltd.

B2 Krister Lindén, Research Director, University of Helsinki

Questions and comments

14.55 Next steps, Erja Heikkinen

15.00 Logging out, but before that please give us some feedback about the event; thank you for participating!